

[illegible]

A corkboard with the word 'SEPTIEMBRE' spelled out in large, white, circular cutouts. Other items on the board include a small newspaper clipping about 'en audiencia', a photo of a church, and a calendar.

The image shows two pages of a handwritten ledger, likely from the 1930s. The pages are yellowed and have some tape repairs. The top page has a header with the date "1934" and a title "RECORD OF THE ...". The bottom page has a header with the date "1935" and a title "RECORD OF THE ...". Both pages contain columns for dates, names, and various numerical entries. The handwriting is in cursive and the ink is dark. The ledger is placed on a wooden surface.

[illegible]

The image shows a handwritten ledger or account book. The ledger is organized into several columns, likely for recording dates, descriptions of transactions, and monetary amounts. The handwriting is in cursive, and the paper appears aged. The ledger is titled "JOURNAL OF THE ..." at the top. The columns are headed as follows: "DATE", "DESCRIPTION", "DEBIT", and "CREDIT". The entries are written in cursive, and the ledger is used for recording financial transactions.
